MEET OUR SPEAKER:

Sandra Treadway has served as Librarian of Virginia since July 2007, overseeing the Library's comprehensive collection of print and manuscript materials documenting the history, culture, and government of Virginia over the past 400 years. Prior to her appointment as Librarian of Virginia, Treadway served as deputy director of the Library and before that as head of the Library's historical publications division.

She is a graduate of Manhattanville College and holds a doctoral degree in American History from the University of Virginia and a master's degree in Library and Information Science from the University of Tennessee.

She is the author of Women of Mark: A History of the Woman's Club of Richmond, Virginia, 1894-1994 (1995) and coeditor of The Common Wealth: Treasures From the Collections of the Library of Virginia (1997) and of the two-volume set Virginia Women: Their Lives and Times (2015 and 2016).

She is a frequent speaker on library issues as well as Virginia and women's history topics. She serves on several commissions and state advisory groups, including the Virginia Freedom of Information Advisory Council and the Virginia Women's Monument Commission.

She will be speaking to us about the Women's Monument that is planned for Capitol Square – how it came to be, where it will be situated, what it will look like, and most importantly, why this project matters.
